

OZEXIT VISION 2030

... The blueprint for national transformation of the Federation of Australia.

Why the name "OZEXIT"? - see original document circulated in 2016 (see "OZEXIT" paper below)

This vision is based on an up-to-date strategic analysis of our nation's needs, problems and opportunities. (see "Backstory" below).

This blueprint is an opportunity to show the world what Australians can do to help save democracy and truly promote peace, order and good government with decentralised strategies and structures centred on 4 national priorities - leadership and physical, economic and social development.

What is this vision?

This is fresh. This is game-changing. This is the new narrative. It's all about community and national asset management of our land, our people and our economy - with technology and overseas people as enablers, not controllers.

It's our future, we can do it. Let them worry about their own nations rather than dreaming of a globalised Utopian government. Who needs them - certainly not our founders and pioneers. We must have the same spirit as them and build our democracy based on freedom and local solutions rather than a one-size-fits all approach, which only leads to power and wealth for the few at the expense and suffering of the many - as history has proven time and time again.

We see 4 key components or milestones of this vision:

1. REVITALISED AUSTRALIAN LEADERSHIP.

This is what we see first in our vision. Starting at the top, we the people want to see leaders and politicians of character we can trust - individuals with strong integrity and courage - who will fight for truth as servants of the public, against others who major on deceit, self-service and power. We want to reform party politics and improve local representation.

We want a return of Constitutional authority, responsibility and sovereignty without abdication, foreign intervention and wasteful duplication of services. We favour decentralisation to return power to the people rather than rely on the elitist hand of centralised power and bureaucracy, including that based on un-mandated, un-Australian and ungodly international covenants that destroy our God-given freedoms and nationalism.

We favour the national interest and national identity over subservience to foreign interests and values. Accordingly, we want to strengthen the sovereignty of the States and the power of regional representation through effective decentralisation.

We want all planning and decision-making to maximise the public good of all Australians, our jobs, industries, traditional culture and freedoms.

2. AUSTRALIA'S HUMAN RESOURCES UNLOCKED

For the sake of humanity this is what we see as the next part of our vision. We want to develop grass-roots leadership, civic responsibility and the effective utilisation of our vast human resources so that the passion, creativity, energy and skills of all Australians is effectively harnessed

We see people are much more important than technology and so we need to defend our freedoms against totalitarian takeover pressure

We want objectivity, freedom of speech and religion, not subjectivity based on the foreign agenda of divisive political correctness, identity politics and social engineering aimed at eroding our unique Aboriginal and Judeo-Christian-based European heritage

We need to unite and work together for community development, building social capital and enabling an army of volunteers for helping others

We need a people-based groundswell of thinkers and doers working together in unity on gap-closing strategies to get us there.

3. OUR PHYSICAL RESOURCES MANAGED BY & FOR THE PEOPLE

This is what we see next in our vision. We want to buy back the farm and have a sound scientific approach to environmental matters, including bushfire protection.

We want to see our indigenous brothers and sisters have more responsibility for managing the natural environment, matching their strengths rather than the dictates and secret agendas of socialism - so that everybody wins and can share God's provision responsibly for ourselves and future generations.

To help improve quality of life we see the need for limits on city growth in order to build regional population, prosperity and influence - an end to globalised thinking on big cities and urban corridors. This will help housing affordability and quality of life - especially for families. Just ask our pioneers. God always intended us to spread out rather than build towers and centralised command structures, with armed policing by strangers rather than old-fashioned policing by known and trusted skilled police working in partnership with the community - helping to build social capital.

We want to see the virtual economy, based on information and communication technology, harmonised with physical asset management

4. OUR ECONOMY LIBERATED FOR A NEW WAVE OF PROSPERITY

This the fourth and last component of our vision - a picture of liberation for our economy. There is a need for a new economic rationale to achieve a quantum leap in our quality of life - one based on favouring the national interest and identity over subservience to foreign interests and values. We want decisions to maximise the public good of all Australians, our jobs and industries as well as traditional culture, values and freedoms for effectively working together.

In particular, we see the following development principles at work:

- getting at least 50% local content for all primary, secondary & tertiary activity, in order to stimulate employment, investment and security
- achieving a huge increase in the quantity and quality of creative and effective economic thinking and action for the material advancement of the public good (instead of the gross enrichment of the few through unbridled self-interest)
- to build on the great record Australia has for innovation, including smart cities and regions
- to accelerate advances in public infrastructure, science and technology for the common good and based on sound economic, social and environmental cost/benefit studies
- to unwind the takeover and destruction of Australia through monopolistic and/or speculative banking, globalisation, un-free trade, privatisation, foreign ownership, loss of farms and the dismantling of our industrial capacity

In short, we want our country back!

OZEXIT

OK, we've all heard about BREXIT and the victory of the British common people over foreign interests. We sympathise with their hunger for freedom and their determination to cut off the paralysing and deadening hand of tyranny wrought by faceless, unelected people outside their borders. We identify with their nationalistic and patriotic desire to want to win their country back and to save it from further destruction, for themselves and for the sake of their future generations. They know their identity, culture and national character has been infected with non-British, non-Christian ideas. They now demand far, far better leadership than they have been provided with since the second world war when a war had been waged against them in secret. But can an enslaved leader lead the fight for freedom? Most unlikely. At this stage no one of the stature of a Winston Churchill or Abraham Lincoln has come forward - yet.

So it is today with Australia. It's time to cast off the yoke of foreign control over the currency of our ideas and our jobs, industries, culture, government and our very future. Today we proclaim OZEXIT. We want leave behind everything that is un-Australian, including any international ties that bind us to the loss of Constitutional self-governance. What's to remain? Only that which is right, good and true; only that which has a proven track-record of advancing the true interest, welfare and progress of the people. Out with the lies, spin, political correctness and threats to free speech and free governance. Out with any unsubstantiated, unworkable ideas for change. This is the fresh narrative.

This is the start of a new vision for Australia - one that our Founding Fathers would be proud of. One that might stay the judgment of Almighty God on this nation for ignoring and forgetting Him. One our future generations could be proud to inherit, not some effeminate corpse of a once-great nation.

This nation was once Christian-based but has now almost become completely pagan. We have instituted strong border protection over boat-people but not over those who seek to undermine us, create chaos, divide us and conquer us, using whatever wicked means that justify their unholy ends.

This battle we have over same-sex marriage is fundamentally a battle between good and evil, right and wrong. The bottom-line is truth. As Pilate said "what is truth"? Truth is absolute, meaning it has a source and is unchanging. It is not relative and dependent on the whims of populist leaders or even the majority. The majority in Nazi Germany got it horribly wrong. Who there had the wisdom and courage to defend the people in the infancy of Nazism?

Truth comes from God. Truth is only truth if it accords with His truth. Otherwise it's a lie, no matter how much sugar-coating is on it. Truth works because it has been designed to work. Where do we get truth? We say, only from the Bible, not from the thought-bubbles of self-centred man, whose only motivation is self, sex, money, power and esteem.

What is their authority for truth? At its extreme man's motivators can't produce anything sustainable. The appearance of success may be there, but not the substance. Nations and demagogues come and go, leaving corruption, destruction and despair in their wake. This is true for most "isms" like Communism, Marxism, Fascism, Humanism and Fabianism - they have never achieved their Utopian dreams, only nightmares. Yet they are all here alive and well in Australia. You can identify them by their stealth, cunning, lies, deception, intimidation, bullying, lust for control and the complete absence of love for God, neighbour and anyone apart from themselves. Christians believe in the golden rule "do unto others what you would have them do to you". The golden rule for the power-hungry is "whoever has the gold rules".

Truth stands alone and triumphant. God alone is sovereign and the sooner the kings of the earth learn this and learn from history the better, otherwise they are destined to repeat history and fall into oblivion. The only strategy that works is God's strategy and the sooner we all align our strategy with His the better. Like our Constitution says, we the people "humbly relying on Almighty God have agreed to unite ...". Simple choice - rely on God or rely on man. Australia by and large have forgotten God at their peril as they run to the UN and the EU for wisdom and guidance - from man. We have replaced the fear of God for the fear of Man.

As a nation it's all downhill from here unless we wake up. We are in a long-term decline phase in spiritual and moral terms. Even Islamic terrorists see that, but their methods are barbaric. The only way to fight these terrorists is to de-radicalise them with better ideas, something we have failed miserably to do in the past - despite the huge funding thrown at the problem in vain hope. Admit it, we don't know how, but God does. Why don't we give Him a go.

And so we have this situation today in Australia. Our nation sought freedom from bondage in its infancy. Our pioneers produced faith and courage in abundance. These virtues founded the Anzac spirit. Would those same men and women think the Australia today is what they fought for? I think not. Then came plenty, next complacency, apathy, ignorance, entitlement and dependency - a nation just right for the picking. We have defence and security capability in physical terms but very little spiritually, morally or mentally. It's time to wake up Australia, the enemy surrounds us and has infiltrated every sphere of power and authority in the land, even our politicians. Yet the Church and the citizenry stay mostly silent. You have been warned.

In summary, OZEXIT means firstly, an exit from those things we stand against:

- all unproductive and corrupting international alliances and covenants
- all devices promoting political correctness and restricting free speech
- erosion of the constitutional sovereignty, authority and responsibility
- wasteful and ineffective duplication between the three tiers of government
- continuing centralisation and subservience to out-of-touch ruling elites
- legislation favouring same-sex marriage because it amounts to a vote against God and His created order (see Genesis Chapters 1, 2 & 3)
- all subversive sexual education in kindergartens and schools (inc. "Safe Schools")
- persecution of any kind of those acting peacefully in accordance with their faith
- the declaration and imposition of war and martial law without a plebiscite

Secondly, a popular uprising for those things we highly value:

- true love and equality based on biblical principles of individual and civic rights and responsibilities, not for the right to do what we like but for the right to do what's right and our duty to do for the benefit of all

- strong men and women of courage and character serving the public interest in government, bound by principle ahead of party politics and self-interest
- an education environment in families, homes and schools that can produce alert, smart-thinking people who can tell right from wrong, truth from deception and who truly practise love for their fellow-man
- a people and government truly dedicated to freedom and self-determination and who can be a light-house to the world

So, rise up concerned citizens. You love your country? You want to make it great again? Like the British, it's time to win our country back too. GO OZEXIT!

BACKSTORY

The following needs and issues must be addressed by any narrative about vision, goals, culture, strategies, structures, plans & budgets:

- the loss of trust in political leadership and the self-interest, divisiveness and strategic failures of major parties
- for better handling of the national virus emergency and further attacks on our health, economy and sovereignty
- to defeat the imminent final takeover by authoritarian globalists and overcome the prevalence of elitist thinking
- the need to breathe new life into this federation to reflect the words of Abraham Lincoln - "that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth".
- the need for an agreed vision for Australia based on traditional values, truth, freedom, justice and the maximum peace, order and good for the people of Australia.
- to agree strategies on how best to close the huge gap between where we are right now and where we should be
- to accelerate empowerment of our vast human resources for strategic thinking, planning and problem-solving
- to reclaim and rebuild Australia along the lines of that envisioned by the Australian Constitution.
- for all existing and proposed Commonwealth legislation to be immediately strategically reviewed as to how well it fits the essential criteria for "peace, order and good" laid down in Section 51 of the Australian Constitution.
- for freedom of speech and religion to be actively pursued and protected and to end "political correctness"
- to move away from the creeping centralism of foreign organisations and individuals and Canberra and pursue decentralisation anticipated by the Australian Constitution by having strong States - and in the process defeat duplication and silo thinking
- to immediately review all foreign covenants as to how well they match the existing Australian Constitution and this national blueprint and in the meantime to cease and de-fund all work on agendas like Agenda 21 and Agenda 2030, because they usurp national powers and interests.
- to accelerated decentralisation from the States in favour of stronger local government and regions
- for Upper House reform - where membership is by elected regional representatives, not party-run politicians.
