

A NEW VISION FOR AUSTRALIA

Extract from Bill Wright's Speech at Adelaide Town Hall, 20 June 2016

I would like to close by suggesting a new vision, a fresh narrative for Australia. I've called it THE CITIZENS CHARTER, because it focuses on the people as well as leadership by the church.

The prime objective for this vision for Australia is that we need to be people always in the process of, in the words of our own Constitution, "humbly relying on the blessing of Almighty God". To this we add the words of Abraham Lincoln, "that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth“.

In addition we the people want politicians with sound moral character who are focussed on public service, not self-service and power. We want a return of Constitutional authority, responsibility and sovereignty without foreign intervention and wasteful duplication of services. We favour decentralisation rather than the elitist hand of centralised power and bureaucracy. We favour the national interest and national identity over subservience to foreign interests and values. We want decisions to maximise the public good of all Australians, our jobs, industries, traditional culture and freedoms. We want freedom of speech, not political correctness and social engineering. We need a people-based groundswell of righteousness. We want our country back.
